

Policy of Occupational Health, Safety, and Environment

We, at ILERI Group, are committed to;

- determining interactions between the implemented work processes with human and environment
- taking into consideration product life-cycle with a clear definition of its environmental dimensions and risks of work safety
- preventing accidents and environmental pollution by minimizing wastes, eliminating them in its resources and reducing the use of natural resources, practicing a waste management system achieving the most convenient elimination and recycling methods
- implementing a production model putting the human first and respecting the environment
- running an occupational health and safety system and ever-improving it, which aims at protecting health and safety of our employees, taking necessary precautions against occupational accidents and diseases and eventually sustaining a clean and healthy workplace and environment
